A SARTORIAL EXPERIENCE

With unpredictable weather standard in England, botanical gardens are the perfect way to surround yourself in nature. These year round gardens provide an oasis for plants sourced near and far and give the Englishman a feeling of being in the tropics even when the British weather is at its worst.

Continuing its concept of the gentleman traveller this season, Scabal presents a collection of sartorially designed pieces ideal for smart days and relaxed nights. Fabrics are light, breathable and packable for the man on the move. While colours reflect the best of the season, classic whites, beiges and navy sit alongside a variety of brighter summer jacket options with fabrics ranging from fine cottons to the softest of summer cashmere.
